

CALL for PAPERS

Deadline: 15 July 2009

Goals

Reaching its eleventh anniversary, the Mediterranean Research Meeting aims:

- to foster theoretical and empirical research and dialogue among scholars from countries across the Mediterranean and with Mediterranean issue concerns;
- to reach as wide as possible coverage of all Mediterranean areas, with topics relating to the Middle East, North Africa, Southern Europe and the Balkans, their mutual relationships and their relations with Europe;
- to focus on legal, historical, economic and socio-political issues;
- to enable junior scholars to meet more senior scholars in an interactive environment, and to promote further research collaboration;
- to encourage the publication and dissemination of this research in edited volumes, thematic issues of learned journals, and Mediterranean Programme Working Papers.

Structure

The MRM 2010 consists of 17 workshops.

Each workshop is directed by 2 workshop directors and on average includes 12 participants.

The participants of each workshop meet in four or five sessions for a total of approximately fifteen hours in which they discuss papers, general topics, ways to publish the papers, and how to continue collaborative efforts.

Plenary and social events are organised during the MRM. The preliminary programme will be posted on the MRM web page in the Fall of 2009.

It is possible to apply for more than one workshop. In that case an applicant should submit the on-line application form for each workshop separately. However, if an applicant is selected for more than one workshop, s/he should choose only one, as all the workshops are held simultaneously.

Co-authored papers can be proposed, but the Mediterranean Programme is able to financially support only one of the authors.

The Mediterranean Programme can agree that additional co-authors participate in the MRM but they have to pay their own travel and accommodation.

Selection

Workshop directors select the paper proposals, and the results of the selection process will be communicated to all applicants by 15 September 2009.

The full final paper should be submitted by 15 January 2010.

By submitting a paper for the MRM, a participant is agreeing to [MRM Participation and Copyright Agreement \[Annex 1\]](#).

All selected candidates need to confirm their participation by e-mail to medmeet@eui.eu within 10 days of the receipt of an invitation to participate.

Participants should guarantee their participation in all sessions of their workshop.

A good working knowledge of English is required. There will be no translation or interpretation services available.

Papers should be written and presented in either English or French.

All abstracts accompanying the final version of the paper should be written exclusively in English.

Accommodation and travel costs

Travel allowances are meant to foster the participation of scholars from the countries with less wealthy research and academic infrastructures.

Participants receive a travel allowance based on their country of residence and employment. This is a flat amount no matter what the actual travel costs are.

If you are receiving money from another institution to cover your travel costs you will not be granted the travel allowance from the MRM.

Participants pay for their own accommodation costs. However, they will benefit from a special discount rate that hotels offer to the MRM.
