DAY 2 (Thursday, 20 May 2010)

9.00 am – 10.30 am

PARALLEL SESSIONS

The aim of each parallel session is to garner ideas and exchanges related to the particular topic, bringing together the leaders, the small and medium companies to interact with each other.

SESSION 1:

Tapping Tourism Potentials: Putting Resources to Work

The economic contribution of tourism cannot be downplayed. With comprehensive marketing strategies and the internet revolution, more destinations are being touted as “the place” to spend vacations. The ability to tap this essential industry depends on positioning strategy and identity, innovation and destination branding to ride the tourism tidal wave. With travelling seen as a necessity than a luxury, there is a need to understand demographics, hospitality development, social issues and policies surrounding the tourism industry. What are the new concepts in the international tourism arena? What are the cross cultural management issues to consider?

Venue: Plenary Theatre, Level 3, KL Convention Centre

Speakers:

- H.E. Dr. Ahmed Ali Sawad, Minister Tourism, Arts and Culture, Republic of Maldives
- H.E. MEC Michael Mabuyakhulu, Ministry of Economic Development and Tourism, Kwazulu Natal Provincial Government, South Africa

- Mr. Amer Bukvic, Chief Executive Officer, Bosna Bank International, Bosnia & Herzegovina

Moderator:

- Tan Sri Dr. Mohd. Munir bin Abdul Majid, Chairman, Malaysia Airlines and Bank Muamalat Malaysia Berhad

SESSION 2:

Integrating Logistics: Building Competitiveness in Freight and Transport

Logistics is one key area of the supply chain that is growing at a rapid rate as the Internet is drastically changing the range, delivery time and the speed of information. In this fast moving sector, many emerging economies remain the most dynamic market for the logistics industry. How do logistics providers in these countries compete in the global supply chain industry? What are the challenges of logistics management? What are the essential elements of supply and logistics chain that need to be addressed? Is enough research and development done to create a centre for future value chain especially in emerging economies?

Venue: Conference Hall 2, Level 3, KL Convention Centre

Keynote Address:

- H.E. Isaac Musumba, Minister of State for Regional Cooperation, Uganda

Speakers:

- Mr. Paul W. Bradley, Chairman & Chief Executive Officer, Caprica International, Singapore

- Mr. Edward Clayton, Country Director & Global Transport Lead, Booz & Company, Malaysia

Moderator:

- Mr. Mark Millar, Managing Director, MPower Associates, Advisor, Hong Kong Logistics Research Centre & Chairman, International Relations Committee, Hong Kong Logistics Association

SESSION 3:

Empowering SMEs : Turning Size into a Comparative Advantage

SMEs have often been recognized as the silent drivers of nations economies. Their potential of growth has often been recognized but in troubled times, the entreprenuring spirit of the SMEs have held their heads above water. Founded on strong enterprise, risk-taking and resilience in the face of oppositions and hurdles, SMEs have time and again shown ability to generate growth and employment undaunted by economic conditions. By virtue of their significant contribution to GDP, industrial production and exports, SMEs are now considered as economic saviours. What are the constraints and the changes required which could convert the challenges to opportunities so that the SMEs sector remained in the economic forefront? How can they be fuelled for growth in the light of changing economic structures? What lies ahead for the SMEs?

Venue: Plenary Theatre, Level 3, KL Convention Centre

Speakers:

- Dato' Hafsah Hashim, Chief Executive Officer, SME Corporation (SME Corp.), Malaysia
- Mr. Tariq Sayeed, Chairman, South Asia Association for

Regional Cooperation (SAARC)

Moderator:

- Dr Alberto G. Brugnoli, Founder & Chairman of the Board, Association for the Development of Instruments of Alternatives and Financial Innovation (ASSAIF), Italy

Tackling a Thirsty World: The Business Case for Water

This is the time for water and money. In these days of uncertainty, the big blue offers a dependability which has disappeared from the rest of the economy. As climate change and population growth leads to an ever more desperate search for water resources, the appeal of water becomes inexorable. At the same time, water needs capital and the global financial crisis has affected the public and private sector alike. What does this mean for the industry, and what is the way ahead? What new models are evolving for financing water projects? How does the dependability of water make a difference in a world of volatility? What is the role of desalination in the future of the water sector? Can new technologies make the difference? Where can we invest to make the most of the new situation? Is it possible to pursue our water needs and protect the environment?

Venue: Plenary Hall, Level 1, KL Convention Centre

Speakers:

- Mr. Clyde C. Tuggle, Senior Vice President, Global Public Affairs & Communications, The Coca-Cola Company
- Mr. Roger Lanoue, Chairman of the Board, International Secretariat for Water, Canada

Moderator:

- Dato' Ruslan Hassan, Chief Executive Officer, Syarikat Bekalan

	Air Selangor (SYABAS), Malaysia
10.30 am – 11.00 am	Refreshments / Informal Networking
11.00 am – 12.30 pm	SESSION 5: Islamic Branding: Myth or Reality? There is a new big thing in the world of marketing - and it is green. Not the familiar grass-green of the environment, however, but a deeper green - the traditional colour of Islam. There are 1.6 billion Muslims worldwide - and the number is rising fast. Of these, only 20% belong to the Arab world, the majority being located in South and East Asia. Due to the huge market potential, is there a need for products to have Islamic branding? What are the common factors which can be said to define brands with Islamic characteristics? Which brands are successful in this way, emerging from the Islamic world? How can owners of brands in the Islamic world make their brands more successful and more relevant to the Muslim community (and others)? How can Western brands make their brands more relevant and therefore successful in the Islamic world? Venue: Conference Hall 3, Level 3, KL Convention Centre Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Mr. John Goodman, President – Ogilvy Group, Southeast Asia - Dr. Abdulrahim Abdulwahid, Chief Executive Officer, Media Hub International LLC, UAE - Mr. Martin Roll, Chief Executive Officer, Venture Republic, Singapore - Dato’ Seri Jamil Bidin, Chief Executive Officer, Halal Industry Development Corporation (HDC), Malaysia - Dr. Paul Temporal, Associate Fellow, Said Business School, Oxford University Moderator: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Mr. James Beltran, Deputy Chairman, Melewar Holdings & Group Advisor, Malaysian Reserve SESSION 6: Connecting Minds: Leveraging Technology for Training and Education The demographics in education have changed, and continue to change quickly and dramatically. Technology provides a wealth of opportunity to fulfill the ever-increasing needs of teachers and students. Technology is therefore crucial to enhance the interactivity between teachers and students. Some emerging countries have poorly developed education frameworks which greatly affect the intellectual capacity of its people, while others have an effective and sound education system that allows its people to specialise in various fields and expertise. Could technology help to bridge that gap? How could educational institutions, particularly in the Muslim countries collaborate with leading technology corporations as well as its counterparts in the more developed countries in the West?

Venue: Conference Hall 2, Level 3, KL Convention Centre

Speakers:

- H.E. Dr. Savaş Alpay, Director General, Statistical, Economic & Social Research & Training Centre for Islamic Countries (SESRIC), Turkey

- Datuk Badlisham Ghazali, Chief Executive Officer, Multimedia Development Corporation (MDeC), Malaysia

Moderator:

- Prof. Emeritus Dato' Dr. M. Zawawi Ismail, Chairman, Universiti Sains Malaysia

SESSION 7:

Ethics in Business: Balancing Bottom Line and Good Governance

In the increasingly conscience-focused marketplaces of the 21st century, the demand for more ethical business processes and actions is increasing. Simultaneously, pressure is applied on industry to improve business ethics through new public initiatives and laws. Businesses can often attain short-term gains by acting in an unethical fashion; however, such antics tend to undermine the economy over time. What are the challenges of creating an ethical culture during difficult times? What has proven successful in creating these ethical cultures? What measures of success are appropriate? What we can learn from those who have made mistakes in this effort?

Venue: Conference Hall 3, Level 3, KL Convention Centre

Islamic banking has grown at an annual rate of 15% and reached a volume of $1 trillion, five times higher than in 2003. With the financial crisis reaching its peak, more and more politicians and economists agree that yesterday's financial world and tomorrow's financial world will not have much in common. Are Islamic banks the financial institutions of the future? What are the challenges it would need to address? Venue: Plenary Hall, Level 1, KL Convention Centre Keynote Address: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Tan Sri Dr. Zeti Akhtar Aziz, Governor, Central Bank of Malaysia Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Mr. Humphrey Percy, Chief Executive Officer, Bank of London and the Middle East, UK - Mr. Khaled Abdulla-Janahi, Executive Vice Chairman, Ithmaar Bank B.S.C. 2.15 pm – 3.45 pm	PLENARY FOUR: GLOBAL CEO PANEL The New Game Plan: Thriving in a Post-Crisis World The new economic order demands foresight into the future. To survive, information has to be ready on demand. Collaboration, relationships and accessibility remain the key elements to create the balance necessary to make the leap from the old order to the new. Where bottom lines used to be the focus of a success, the lessons learnt thus far show that realistic expectations and aggressive management of these expectations will ensure that only the fittest survive. What is the organizational architecture needed for increased profit and value? How can agility, customer service, talent, management and reputation be reconciled to attain advantage as we pave the path to economic recovery? Venue: Plenary Hall, Level 1, KL Convention Centre Panelists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Tan Sri Azman bin Hj Mokhtar, Managing Director, Khazanah Nasional, Malaysia - Mr. Nasser Munjee, Chairman, Development Credit Bank Ltd & Chairman, Aga Khan Rural Support Programme, India - Mr. Ian Powell, Chairman & Senior Partner, PwC UK & Middle East - Mr. Salah Mohammed Jaidah, Chief Executive Officer, Qatar Islamic Bank - Mr John Nugée, Senior Managing Director, Official Institutions Group, State Street Global Advisors Ltd, US - Dato’ Anthony F. 3.45 pm – 5.15 pm	SPECIAL LEADERS DIALOGUE ON CLIMATE CHANGE Putting a Brake on Climate Change: Assuring Earth’s Future Today climate change seriously affects 325 million people yearly, kills about 315,000 people a year through hunger, sickness and extreme weather, and causes global economic losses of over $125 billion annually. These numbers are projected to rise substantially over the

	next 20 years. Urgent and ambitious global action must be taken to prevent dangerous climate change that could cause enormous human suffering, undermine economic progress and poverty reduction, and trigger potentially catastrophic environmental changes. What do communities and business organizations have to do with these phenomenon? The climate has always varied in the past, how is this any different? What are the impacts and solutions for climate change on nations and businesses in particular? How can individuals, communities, business organizations and governments help to collectively negate the threat?
